About deff.dk

deff.dk is the main access point for DEF services such as subject gateways, the DEF library catalogue and electronic journals.

deff.dk is an entry point to a selection of important resources which can be used as starting points for further searches for information.

deff.dk is selective - the selection of resources is based on a set of guidelines for quality and relevance.

The target audience is researchers and students.

"deff.dk" is the answer to the question:

"Where can I find, in one place, the most important sources of information relevant for my subject area?"

www.deff.dk is the web address for the main portal for Denmark's Electronic Research Library (DEF).

What can you find in deff.dk?

Subject gateways

Subject gateways are services which contain quality resources within specific subject areas. The subject gateways accessible through deff.dk are developed within as well as outside DEF.

Library catalogue

The Library catalogue is a link to a DEF service, where you can search simultaneously in one or more research library catalogues.

Library websites

In this database you search in the participating libraries' web sites.

Library overview

Links to the participating research libraries' home pages and library catalogues.

Electronic journals

Danish research libraries give local access to over 7000 electronic journals in full text. Here you can search for titles within broad subject categories.
